

Highlights

29 March, 2021

- Balanced floating catchment area methods are applied to measure accessibility to PBSP
- Contribution of equity stations to accessibility assessed at different thresholds
- Equity stations increased horizontal and vertical accessibility, albeit only modestly
- Lowest income group has lowest levels of accessibility, even with equity stations
- Locations for new stations are identified to increase equitable access to PBSP